Anyone can talk about competitive pricing, but without TelePacific's great service to go along with it, the bottom line just doesn't add up.

Guaranteed performance

TelePacific provides a level of service to all its customers typically only given to the largest corporate accounts. TelePacific isn't like those other companies who say they provide great service and don't.

Making

Personal...

When you're stuck on hold or getting the runaround with the big phone company, chances are you're talking to somebody a thousand miles away. TelePacific is right here. We handle our calls and provision our voice and Internet services with local account managers and customer service professionals.

“We build relationships with our customers.”

A Message from President/CEO Dick Jalkut

At TelePacific, we are proud of our success. Headquartered on the West Coast, TelePacific has more than 1200 employees in the areas we do business, including three call centers in California and Nevada, all on Pacific time, just like you. Today, TelePacific is the largest competitor to At&T, Verizon and Embarq in the markets it serves, proving that businesses are seeking better service than they get today from the incumbents.

Service is our first priority, with a company culture based on customer satisfaction. We continue to focus on recruiting and hiring talented teammates, so our customers can rest assured that while we grow, our service levels will remain exceptional. Our goal is to deliver the best possible service and we recognize the critical importance of providing the level of support you deserve.

Through ongoing support and feedback we continue to work harder for our customers. As part of our commitment to quality of service, we've put metrics in place that create visibility and accountability throughout the organization—metrics we review on an organizational level each week. All of us at TelePacific review, discuss and work every issue, every account, and every customer experience. With this attention to detail, we can continuously focus on opportunities for improvement.

At TelePacific, we take care of our customers, and we look forward of taking care of your telecommunications needs now and in the future. You can count on us to be here for you.
